
I'm new to these parts

Posted by Galfraz - 2009/12/05 19:23

I'm Galfraz. I have read several of Lovecraft's works, though not all of them. I haven't read anything by any other mythos authors. I'm a fan of the universe that Lovecraft created in his stories and am interested to know how other people have expanded on his work.

=====

Re:I'm new to these parts

Posted by RMc - 2009/12/05 19:33

Hi, I'm new here as well. The place seems pretty empty so far, kind of like exploring beneath the polar ice cap. For non-Lovecraft mythos, my favorite is THE HOUNDS OF TINDALOS by Frank Belknap Long.

=====

Re:I'm new to these parts

Posted by grenoblegang - 2009/12/16 12:48

As Cthulhu lies dreaming in R'lyeh he sends telepathic messages to the primitives who are beginning to dance in frenzies about huge fires and sacrifice their friends and cannibalize and sodomize; the beginning of the end is here.

=====

Re:I'm new to these parts

Posted by grenoblegang - 2009/12/16 12:50

Have you heard Metallica's tune The thing that should not be? It is about the mountain-sized squid-headed Great Old one from beyond the stars which we fear desperately, like it says below, powered by...

=====

Re:I'm new to these parts

Posted by Azathoth - 2009/12/16 14:32

Welcome to all of our new users. Hope you stick around and enjoy the place.

=====